QUESTION 1 [28 Marks]

1.1 Identify if the statements below are true or false. Do not rewrite the questions. (10)

QUESTION	TRUE / FALSE
1.1.1. A mixed market economy combines features of planned and market economies, and one aspect of it is the privatisation of state owned enterprises.
1.1.2. Demand in a market economy refers to buyers' willingness and ability to purchase goods, while supply refers to producers' willingness and ability to offer goods.
1.1.3. In monopolistic competition there is only one producer that controls the entire market with no close substitutes.
1.1.4. E commerce and crossovers from big business are among the trends encouraging small business start ups.
1.1.5. A business plan only needs to describe the product; it does not have to outline goals, sales forecasts or financial plans.
1.1.6. An intrapreneur uses entrepreneurial skills to create new products or processes within an existing company, whereas an entrepreneur launches and runs a new venture from scratch.
1.1.7. In a functional organisational structure, authority is determined by product lines and each division operates like a self-contained company..
1.1.8. Centralised organisations delegate authority to lower levels and typically have flat structures with few layers of management.
1.1.9. Corporate strategy focuses on improving a firm's competitive position at the business unit or product line level.
1.1.10. Decision making skills involve defining problems and selecting the best courses of action.

1.2. Differentiate between business goals and business functions and support your answer with one example of business functions. (6 Marks)

1.3. An economic system is a nation's system of production and allocation of resources among its citizens, both individuals and organisations. Discuss the four (4) types of economic systems. (12 Marks).
